	signs to contain Khmer letters or fonts that are at least twice as large as foreign fonts.
9. (a) Content regulation Including local content quotas, content control and insertion of classification and other content labels into international feeds	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> Existing regulations are unlikely to apply to pay TV</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> Under the existing regulations, Cambodia’s film industry, including broadcasts of movie and TV content over the Internet, is regulated under Sub-decree No. 234 on Management of Film Industry (Sub-decree 234) which was issued on 8 November 2016. Under Sub-decree 234, local and foreign film works must be submitted to the Ministry of Culture and Fine Arts (MCFA) for prior review and approval (Visa-registration). Sub-decree 234 is complemented by Prakas No. 166 on Classifications and Visa-Registration of Films and Videos (Prakas 166), issued on 25 August 2015, which aims to restrict the productions and distributions of local and foreign videos/films in Cambodia in order to prevent negative effects on minors. Under Prakas 166, it is required to obtain approval (visa registration) on film and video content and there are three categories of ratings applicable to both film and video content: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ “G” for general audience;</li> <li>○ “NC15” only for audience of at least 15 years old; and</li> <li>○ “R18” only for audience of at least 18 years old.</li> </ul> Further, age ratings must be shown on the movie and video content while broadcasting, on posters, and on product packaging. </li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> However, as set out in Prakas 170 on Control of Publication on Websites and Social Media Processed via the Internet in Cambodia, dated May 18, 2018 (Prakas 170), relevant ministries have the authority to block any content on the internet by an offshore company if the government finds the content to cause any chaos in society that threatens national defence, national security, relations with other countries,</li> </ul>

	national economy, public order, discrimination, culture, or Cambodian traditions; or provokes any enmity, breaking national solidarity, discrimination, intentionally creates unrest that threatens national security, public interests, and social orders, etc. <input type="checkbox"/> Given the broad scope of application and significant discretion practised by ministries in interpreting content standards, ministries may implement their authority against any content that is considered to undermine national security which may potentially include content on pay TV.
9. (b) Content regulation Including languages, dubbing/subtitling and captioning	<input type="checkbox"/> No regulation/requirement exists.
10. Programme supply restrictions Including must provide rules and other restrictions on exclusivity and anti-siphoning rules	<input type="checkbox"/> No regulation/requirement exists. <input type="checkbox"/> The Ministry of Information (MOI) issued Letter No. 1701, dated November 30, 2017, informing TV broadcasters who have purchased exclusive right from different sources to broadcast movies, videos or other programmes to apply to the MOI for recognition of or to reserve exclusive right immediately after they have been legally imported, so that the MOI can promptly inform all broadcasters of any exclusive right to broadcast and to prevent the broadcasters from violating each other rights. Although this Letter does not apply to pay TV, it suggests that there is no restriction on exclusivity.
11. Restrictions on FDI Including platforms and wholesale supply of programming and cross-media ownership restrictions	<input type="checkbox"/> No industry-specific regulations or restrictions. <input type="checkbox"/> General foreign investment rules apply. The approval of the Council for the Development of Cambodia (CDC) and Council Minister is required for foreign investment in projects involving capital investment of US$50 million and above for sensitive investment projects (political concerns, environmental issues e.g. mining industry, infrastructure project). Media activities are

12. Retransmission arrangements Including must carry and remuneration	<input type="checkbox"/> No regulation exists.
13. Consumer protection Including cooling-off period, termination rights and payment mechanism	Pursuant to Prakas 0113 on Cooling-Off Period dated 11 April 2022, the customers are entitled to the following rights: <input type="checkbox"/> Right to withdrawal during the cooling-off period. Within seven days from the date of entering into the contract or subscription, customers have the right to withdraw or cancel their order by providing a written notice to the service provider. In addition, they are not required to be liable for any expenses, except service charges that customers have used until: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– written notice is sent to the service provider; and</li> <li>– the end of any time stated in the contract, but not exceeding one month, with an appropriate reason determined by the service providers for the termination.</li> </ul> <input type="checkbox"/> Right to receive a full refund. Regarding the withdrawal during the cooling-off period, service providers must provide a full refund, without including the service charges mentioned above, to the customer within seven days from the date of receiving the notice. There are no specific restrictions regarding the payment mechanism. However, service providers who offer their services electronically must explicitly state the terms and conditions on the service fees and payment methods as well as details about the order cancellation, termination, change, and refund for the customers to consider according to the Prakas on Information Standard for Consumer dated August 31, 2021.

Questions	Pay TV	Foreshadowed changes?
14. Entering a new market: FAST TV	The current regulatory framework for broadcasting services mostly concerns traditional form of broadcasts only, not those accessible only via the internet. Things that trigger FAST TV entering a new market is that its operator could qualify as an electronic-commerce service provider and a non-resident taxpayer.
15. Data handling	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li data-bbox="562 408 1366 651">☐ There is no comprehensive data protection legislation in Cambodia.
